

“There were a lot of decisions that I've made that I thought was right, but I've discovered so many options through this activity. It provides a brief insight to yourself and if I was to encounter this moment at all in the future, then I would come up with better solutions.”